

EXPLORE 5 MILES OF TRAILS

along the Deep River in Randleman, Franklinville, and Ramseur.

0.75 mi loop

Faith Rock Trail

American Patriot Andrew Hunter was cornered by the Tory Army atop this 50 foot blue stone outcrop (pictured above) in 1782, the midst of the Revolutionary War. Desperate to escape, he turned and rode his horse straight off the rock into the Deep River. Miraculously, he lived to tell the tale. On Faith Rock Trail you can hike to the top of this rock and stand where he stood before his daring "leap of faith."

This trail is an easy 3/4 mile loop that has a big payoff. Cross over the historic bridge, take in the beautiful views of the river, and go back in time from the top of Faith Rock.

 TRAILHEAD:

1306 Andrew Hunter Road, Franklinville, NC 27248

Release date July 2020; Version 1

The Deep River State Trail will connect communities all along the Deep River and provide an outdoor and cultural experience for the health, wellness, and enjoyment of all who visit.

Let's Explore.

DEEP RIVER

State Trail

RANDLEMAN

With many spots to relax, picnic, and fish, the Deep River State Trail is a hub of recreation in the City of Randleman. Starting at the trailhead the wide fine gravel path can take you both up or down the river. Choose your adventure! The trail is 1.5 miles one way, or a total of 3 miles if you go out and back both directions. Check out this trail for an easy walk and stunning views as you explore the green and rocky banks of the Deep River.

1.75
mi one way

FRANKLINVILLE

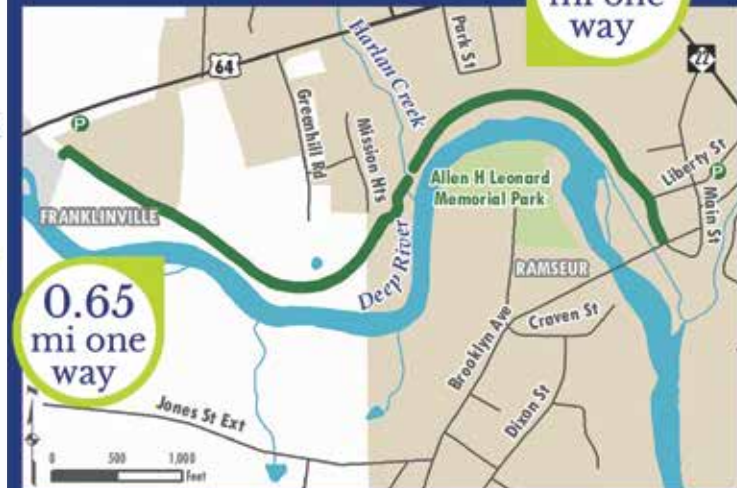

Passing by the old grist mill and textile factory, the trail in Franklinville highlights the river's importance to industry in small town NC. The fine gravel trail journeys through Riverside Park, passes by Deep River Fabricators, and continues into a peaceful forest. Eventually this trail will connect with the Ramseur section via a bridge over Sandy Creek near the US 64 highway bridge. Combine this great trail with Faith Rock Trail (see back) and you've got a full day event.

 TRAILHEADS:

- WEST 1306 Andrew Hunter Dr, Franklinville, NC
- MID 163 W Main St, Franklinville, NC 27248
- EAST 435 Rising Sun Way, Franklinville, NC 27248

0.53
mi one way

RAMSEUR

The Deep River State Trail in Ramseur has two sections separated by the currently impassable Harlan Creek, where a bridge will be built in the future. The fine gravel trail on both sides takes you through a lovely hardwood forest with glimpses of the river along the way. On the eastern section of the trail you discover the remains of a dam, the site of the old Columbia Manufacturing Co. cotton mill first built in 1850.

 TRAILHEADS:

- WEST 5960 US 64, Ramseur, NC 27316
- EAST 728 Liberty St, Ramseur, NC 27316

1.5
mi one way

