About Asheboro

The City of Asheboro, named an All-America City by the National Civic League and a Great Main Street Award Recipient, is conveniently located in Randolph County, the Heart of North Carolina. Within approximately 70 miles from the state's capital, Raleigh to the east, Charlotte to the South, and only half an hour from the Piedmont Triad region of Greensboro and High Point to the North, Asheboro is centrally located in our great state. Our variety of activities within downtown and surrounding areas has gained the Heart of North Carolina and Asheboro recognition as a top travel destination for families on a budget. Founded in 1796 as the county seat, Asheboro has a wonderful history of warm and welcoming hospitality. The city of Asheboro became known for its textile manufacturing industry, however, as the economy changed, Asheboro is now known as home to the North Carolina Zoo – the largest land mass zoo in the world! You may find yourself calling Asheboro home once you visit.
